BRIGADE MCGOWAN WRITES A LETTER TO HIS SON.

He Gets A Very Hot Silver Argument In Return—The Tests of The Two Letters.

OFFICE OF

MCGOWAN HARVESTING MACHINE CO.

Chicago, August 17, 1896.

Messrs. Winfree Bros. & Co.,

Gentlemen:—

We have never before been so at a loss to let out our plans and work for the next session as we are at this time. If we felt sure the election would go for sound money and reasonable protection, we should push ahead with our manufacturing. We have had the largest business of any year since 1880. Work is now empty. It takes every hour of our capacity to supply our trade. If we thought the country would go for limited coinage of silver, we should not wish to run our shops for more than half of our capacity. We do not know at all whether to go for sound money in advance than to ask each one of our 7,500 agents for their honest expressions upon the great issue before us, and their best judgment of how the vote will probably stand as near as they can estimate it. We have no committee. To this end we hand you addressed postal card, and ask you to fill it out sign and return to us.

Yours Truly,

MCGOWAN HARV. MACHINE CO.

The Reply They Got.

OFFICE OF

WINFREE BROS. & CO.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 22, 1896.

McGowen Harv. Machine Co.,

Gentlemen:—

In answer to yours of recent date in regard to the silver question we will say that we are loyal Democrats here and almost to a man will support the grand and noble platform adopted by the ticket of the representatives of the Democratic party of these United States. Mr. Carlisle in his great speech in 1878 made some predictions which have come true to the letter, and we believe that the restoration of silver (which has been legislated against) will restore confidence and good times. The period has come when should again put on the weapons of warfare and like our fathers fight for our independence. Never were people more oppressed by unjust laws and false legislation than ourselves are at this moment. God help us to victory in this hour of trial and destruction. The gray haired men of today remember "the close of that memorable conflict when the land they loved—the South—once so fair and rich and powerful, lay bleeding and gasping in the ashes of defeat." The Southern states, their wealth consumed, their cities battered and burned and ruined, and their once happy homes made mournful and desolate by the ravages of civil war." We are standing upon a precipice as awful as the scene of that epochal day when the fall of our wives, our children and our homes will fall with us. The moneyed kings of this land will soon own the very ground we tread upon and it behoves every true American to put forth every effort and exertion possible to avert such a calamity as is the tempest of their weeping women and pledging them a brighter day when the shadows vanished and the clouds rolled by." We pledge a persecuted people by restoring one half the money so ruthlessly taken from us, to pay off their mortgages and become once again a prosperous people. We are standing upon a platform of not a new "field of warfare," but a tried and true platform, and we see the welcome approach of other states to our standard. We are on the threshold of a glorious battle of life and death but the glorious battle of victory. Farmers, mechanics, manufacturers, lawyers, teachers, physicians and divines, these compose the bone and sinew of our nation, and our government is built upon the principles of freedom, free association, free speech, free ballot, free silver, law, order, the autonomy of states, one flag and a re-united people. These are the principles of the progressive and Jeffersonian Democracy we represent, and we will endeavor to spread these ideals throughout our entire lives. There is no success of old Democracy and Bryan and Seawall. Victory is sure, for the prayers of the mothers and daughters all over this broad land will be answered. Stand upon the few facts I have named. God they are few who are disposed to party and pride. Lastly, if we handle your machine next year we insist that you stripe her with silver.

Very Respectfully,

Winfree Bros. & Co.

RODE ON PASSES.

THE RAILROADS "SAT THEM UP" TO THE BOLTSOCRATS.

Three Hundred Delegates On Hand And Many "Has Beens" and Back Numbers Bobbed Up.

Louisville, Aug. 20.—By the lavish use of railroad passes and the drumming up of crowds by the railroad attorneys who made themselves active in distributing the passes, the Boltsocrats and Bondocrats succeeded in making up an outside attendance of 250 or 300 people at their convention to-day.

It was chiefly a crowd of corporation attorneys and bank officers with a sprinkling of countrymen who were tempted to come to town by the rare privilege of riding on a free pass.

But the delegation in connection with their Louisville sympathizers made a good showing in Music hall and during Breckinridge's speech the lower floor was full.

Your correspondent made it a point to look upon all the district meetings at noon and count the men present. There was a good attendance from the Third, Fifth, Seventh and Eighth districts. The number in the other districts ranged from eleven to thirty. More than half the counties in the State were not represented at all and the voting by proxy was common.

The railroad attorneys did not say that they had emptied their pass books working up a crowd, and our reporter asked them and said,

"You seem to be on to us!"

Aside from Breckinridge there was no great drawing card in the gathering.

The men and newspaper who two years ago were most abusive of Breckinridge, were to-day adulating him.

LADY DOCTORS.

Young Women Appointed to the Hospital Corps in Victoria.

We men are bound to the front in Victoria. Miss Robina Barton all but succeeded in her application to the Marine board for a second mate's certificate on board a foreign-going vessel, and now Miss Alfreda Ethel Gamble and Miss Anna Linda Gray have been duly appointed to have commenced their duties as female medical officers of the Melbourne Hospital Service—a large institution in the heart of the city—accommodating some hundreds of patients suffering from all sorts of miscellaneous complaints. They will be the first of the hospital authorities to take the first six graduates in the final honor list of the Melbourne University Medical school every year and appoint them resident medical officers at the institution; but this year they were confronted with an unexpected difficulty, for the names of two ladies appeared on the list. Among the profession and in the press the battle raged hotly as to the claims of the ladies; but as the hospital committee includes politicians who foresee the approach of the franchise for women, the lady candidates simply "walked in," as the American saying goes. The question came to a division, and they commence work along with the four new male residents who are their colleagues. Miss Greig, being the lowest on the list, was, according to custom, placed in charge of the casualty ward, and as she went into harness on a Saturday she had a lively time of it for her first night. She is a very girlish looking girl of three-and-twenty or thereabouts, and as she went on duty at midnight in a simple black skirt and a cotton print blouse she hardly looked physically strong enough to deal with the mad-drunk larrikins and drunkards who were brought right or brought to the hospital in a more or less hattered condition for surgical treatment. But before the new doctor went off duty next day she showed that emergency develops capacity, although the experience must have given her nerves to a rude trial.—St. James' Gazette.

MEANNESS AND MILLIONS.

Wealthy Seniors Send Invitations as Second Class Mail.

I have been asked whether I ever received social invitations from millionaires in open envelopes with half-penny stamps, and what I think of this practice on the part of millionaires. It is not often that I am privileged to receive invitations from millionaires under any circumstances, but it is a remarkable fact that I have had such an invitation addressed to me at the half-penny rate of postage, and as others have had a similar experience, I suppose that millionaires in this class have a weakness for half-penny postage stamps. Probably this weakness has something to do with their having become, or remained, millionaires. A worse failing on the part of millionaires, of which I have experience, is that they occasionally ask their friends to dinner, and set them down to a meal quite unfit to eat. Personally, I would rather that a man took a halfpenny off the postage of my invitation and spent it on the dinner. So far as the invitation is concerned, there may possibly be many people who, when invited to the houses of millionaires, would wish the fact known, and would prefer, if possible, that the invitation should be sent on a postcard, so that all run may read. Perhaps it is from this kindly motive, rather than from parsimony, that millionaires patronize the half-penny post. Let us think as well of Dives as we can.—London Truth.

The Burning of Moscow.

When the Russians evacuated Moscow, in 1812, after the battle of Borodino, the czar ordered the city to be fired, and a large number of convicts were pardoned and released from the jails on condition that they would do the work of setting fire to the houses.

It was very late, the winter city was reduced to ruins on September 14 and the eight following days, and the destruction of property estimated to exceed $150,000,000. It was this step which forced Napoleon to leave the ancient capital of Russia and begin the retreat which subsequently proved so disastrous.

Varied Fragrance of the Wharves.

Along the East river wharves one may get odors of spiced and gums from cargoes discharging from various ports, but he will find there no odor more agreeable than that of an unloading cargo of pineapples; a fragrance not pungent nor penetrating, but yet pervasive and pleasant.—N.Y. Sun.

Used in Army Hospitals.

It is not generally known, although it ought to be, that G. R. Sims, of London, is the leader of the great anti-bald agitation. It is stated that he reckons to have caused hair to grow on 50,000 bald heads. His recipe is paraffin oil.

BATTLE OF THE HAWKS.

BATTLES for the Possession

Ann of an Old Tree.

In Peck's Run, a mile from Shesville, N. J., stands an old tree as dead as it has been twisted off by lightning, and its trunk has been cut full of holes by woodpeckers and sapsuckers.

For years this hawk has built a nest in the crotch of the veteran and roosted there young, and the second week in May, as regularly as the month comes around, there is a pitched battle between the old hawks and their young for possession of the nest.

The "Battle of the Hawks" is an exciting feature in the lives of Shesville people, who keep watch of the nest until the fighting forces put in an appearance, and then the men, women and children of the town, which has a population of something like 100 souls, flock to the fields near the old tree and enjoy the aerial "scrap" to its finish.

The birds go at it with the sharp claws of trained raptors, and they battle with the force of savages. For two or three days the young ones come in from the surrounding plumes and camp, as it were, until their number is sufficiently large to warrant an attack on the two vicious old birds that are in possession of the nest.

Men who have watched these battles year after year for ten years say that the old hawks have never yet been worsted. Sometimes they are a little short of feathers when the skirmish is over, but they manage to hold the nest, and if their assailants get off without leaving a dozen feathers, the old birds are victorious.

This year the battle is unusually fierce, and one of the old hawks was so badly damaged that it fell to the ground, and Bart Hobson, who has a strong affection for the old birds, took it home and carefully nursed it until it was able to fly when he set it loose and it returned to the nest as chipper as ever.

This year the young hawks were three days getting ready for the assault. They, apparently, were determined to win and held off until they numbered between 40 and 50. During the day they circled around the tree high enough above it to obtain a clear view of the nest inside and outside, evidently taking note of its weak points.

While this was going on the old hawks quickly watched the maneuvers of their enemies, one of them sitting on the end of a broken limb, the other standing on the edge of the nest.

One morning the attacking party formed a circle in the air above the nest and, at the cry of one that appeared to be the leader, every bird shot towards the nest like an arrow.

When they came together there was a wild jumble of feathers and sticks, and the birds snarled at a lot of people. They quickly rose to the air again, whereupon it was observed that had been beaten out of the nest cleared up the two old hawks were seen viciously yanking the feathers out of an unfortunate enemy that had fallen into their clutches.

It was the evident intention of the young hawks to tear the nest apart and they swooped down on it repeatedly, but it was strongly built of interlaced sticks cemented together with clay that had been baked in the sun for years, and they made but little impression upon it. At each attack the old hawks managed to gather in one of their assailants and made short work of him.

All day this form of battle was waged, up and still the old birds were apparently as fresh as at the start. At sunset hostilities were suspended. The next morning, bright and early, the young hawks gathered in a mass over the tree and, at a squall from the leader, let fall a shower of stones that they carried in their talons.

One of these fell on the back of the hawk in the nest and hurt it so that it could not fly with as much vim as before. A half dozen times the young hawks resorted to this trick, but only hit the nest once.

In the middle of the forenoon of the second day the two old hawks squabbled forth and mixed up with their assailants in a hand-to-hand battle. Feathers flew and screams filled the air. Occasionally a young bird fell to the ground dead or dying, and finally one of the old hawks came tumbling down with one wing helpless.

For an hour the battle raged and then, suddenly, the young hawks turned tail and disappeared in the pines, leaving the old hawk master of the situation. Eighteen young birds were killed in the engagement.—Philadelphia Times.

The glorious results of this season's harvest of golden grain will pour a stream of money into the pockets of every farmer.

South Dakota has thousands of acres of choice farming and ranch land lying east of the Missouri river, and within one day's ride from Chicago or Milwaukee which can now be bought reasonably cheap, but which before the end of another year may be far from cheap.

The stock raising industry in South Dakota is profitable, and Eastern capital is now being invested in cattle and sheep growing in that state.

Diversified farming, the growing of live stock, and the products of the dairy are placing South Dakota foremost in the ranks of the successful Western States.

Those desiring full information on the subject, and particularly those who wish to seek a new home or purchase land are requested to correspond with J. G. Everest, General Traveling Passenger Agent, 95 Adams street, Chicago, Ill.

A sound Liver Makes a Well Man.

You are bilious, constipated or troubled with jaundice, sick headache, bad taste in mouth, foul breath, coated tongue, dyspepsia, indigestion, hot dry skin, pain in back and between the shoulders, chills and fever, etc. If you have any of these symptoms, take a dose of our Liver Tonic every day, and your blood will be purged, because your blood does not act properly. Herbine will cure any disorder of the liver, stomach or bowels. It has no equal as a liver medicine. Price 75 cents. Free trial bottle at R. C. Hardwick's drug store.

It is a basic thing to tread upon a man that is down.

My little boy when two years of age, was taken very ill with bloody flux. I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and luckily procured the part of a bottle. I carefully read the directions and followed them. The boy was very low, but slowly and surely he began to improve, gradually recovered, and is now as strong as ever. I feel sure it saved his life. I never can praise the remedy half its worth. I am sorry every one in the world does not know about it, for it is, as I do, Mrs. Lila B. Hinton, Grahamsville, Marion Co., Florida, for sale by R. C. WE DEMAND the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender equally with gold for all debts, public and private—Democratic National Plat form. 1896.

Free coinage means that silver and gold bullion shall be coined without charge by the United States mint.

Unlimited coinage means that all the gold and all the silver presented at the United States mints shall be coined into money.

The ratio of 16 to 1 means that the number of grains of pure silver in a silver dollar shall be sixteen times the number of grains of pure gold in a gold dollar.

By a full legal tender is meant that when a debtor offers either gold or silver to a creditor in any sum whatever, the creditor is bound to accept the same and discharge the debtor from his liability.

The Bolcretors decided not to try to raid the Democratic hen-roost for a party emblem. They went to the graveyard instead and slandered the memory of a statesman who has been dead for 70 years by adopting "The head of Thomas Jefferson, surrounded by a wreath of hickory leaves," as their voting device. It is enough to make the author of the Declaration of Independence turn over in his grave to have those in favor of the British system claim to be his followers.

The poll made in Hopkinsville just before the May convention showed 128 votes for the gold standard and 247 for bimetallism. Of these 128 a second poll has been made and 34 of them are now 16 to 1 silver men. About 25 or 30 others support the party ticket and some are still undecided. The silver cause is gaining many new converts every week while nobody can name a silver man who has changed to the gold side.

The Democrats of Louisville have nominated I. B. Nall for Mayor. With his gold-bug vote divided between Todd and Jacob, his chances are by no means hopeless, although the Republican and Bolcretor dailies are expected to fight him bitterly with the rest of the Democratic ticket.

Bren Jurdge will be the Jonah of the Bolcretors. Few decent people will care to mix up in a movement with such cattle as he is at the head of it.

The Owensboro Messenger says:

"A number of the leading spirits in the Bolcretor convention at Louisville do not hesitate to say, in private conversation, that it was their purpose to rule for McKinley in November if it became apparent to them that it was necessary to beat Bryan in Kentucky. They are not telling this to the good Democrats they are trying to toll off into this third party movement. They are pretending it is only their purpose to re-organize the Demo party, and build up as strong a nucleus for it in this campaign as possible. They are trying to persuade men to go into this movement whose souls would revolt at this time at the suggestion of voting for a Republican like McKinley, but in the course of sixty days they hope to work up these converts to the point of acting as they propose to do at the November election. They are acting under the advice and instructions of Mr. Hanna. Their organization is nothing more nor less than a McKinley Aid Society."

Dr. J. D. Clardy was in the city yesterday for the first time in a week. He has heard nothing from the Populist proposition to be submitted, nor has any official communication been had with the chairman of the Democratic District Committee. Capt. C. D. Bell, the Populist nominee, has not been to town since his nomination and it is not known what his intentions are in regard to the race.

Dr. F. M. Neil, warden of the Frankfort penitentiary, died Friday. He had been prominent in State politics for some years, having served a term in the State Senate. His remains were taken to that county for interment. The scramble for the vacancy made by his death began before the dead warden was buried.

Only 20 voters were present at the Hart county "convention" in which Buckner's boom for vice-President was first launched. The meeting was held in a private room of a hotel in Munfordville and even the distinguished woodcock that have been missing since Franks was nominated came back long enough to make a few additional remarks.

The Bolcretors selected as their delegates-at-large to the rump convention:

Breckinridge, seducer.
Carroll, boister.
Broder, corporation lawyer.

Buckner, millionaire bank number. It will be observed that Willies' name, like Abon Ben Adhem's, leads all the rest.

The Henderson Journal says the attempt to get Hon. John W. Lockett to run as a bolting Democratic candidate for Congress is likely to fail. His law partner, Hon. Malcom Yeaman, is a loyal Democrat and a supporter of Dr. Clardy, and it is not believed that Mr. Lockett will be a party to the Republican scheme to embarrass the Democratic nominee.

Hoke Smith has maintained his self respect by leaving the Cabinet, when given the alternative of bolting his party ticket or getting out of the nest of traitors in which he found himself. Well done for Smith. He is a man all over and will be heard from in the future.

Mr. John Montgomery, of Providence, Ky., is working up a reunion of California pioneers at Madisonville Sept. 22. All people who went to California in 1849 and 1850 are expected to attend. Correspondence is solicited.

The idea of asking Mr. Bryan to "divide time" with a confessed and convicted seducer would be an insult and the mere suggestion of such a thing is doubtless intended as an indignity.

Hon. I. H. Goddard of Franklin, is a popular Democratic candidate for governor in 1899.

Mr. Bryan has accepted an invitation to dine with Senator Hill to-day.

ANDREWS FOR FREE COINAGE

VIEWS OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.
New York, Aug. 18.—The World's Denver Colorado special page: The Rev. Henry W. Pinkham, pastor of the First Baptist church and a friend of President Andrew, of Brown University, recently wrote to Mr. Andrews, asking these questions:

1. Do you favor the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 by the United States without waiting for the consent of other nations?

2. Could the United States, having adopted such free coinage maintain the practical parity of the gold and silver dollar?

3. Would not the coinage by the United States alone add to a complete discrediting of our gold? Why not?

4. Would not the effect of the recent increased production of gold as compared to silver be counterbalanced in the result of free coinage by the stimulus thus given to silver mining and by the influx of foreign silver?

5. Would not the advantages of free coinage be more than negatived by the loss of gold, the cost of which is a withdrawal of foreign capital?

In reply, President Andrews has written:

"1. I do.
2. I do.
3. I do not think so. People would not hoard or export gold in the face of a movement certain to cheapen gold. It seems to me more likely that the rehabilitation of silver by us would be the occasion of setting free vast amounts of gold now hoarded for military and other purposes."

6. This partly answered under the last. Further there would be no influx of foreign silver. Doubtlessly the free coinage by us would increase the amount of silver coined, but the new silver could not be mined at so low a marginal cost as at present prevails. The marginal cost would be increased with the output, so that all tendency from this source to increase the production of silver would be negatived. The very prolific silver mines are now very few.

7. Quite the reverse. After a possible first shock our credit would improve with free coinage. It is our opinion that the world would especially lower our credit. How large a man or firm continue to have credit will however each year to pay a large proportion of its running expenses? Yet on a gold basis this course is inevitable; and that at this moment the reason why foreign lending is on the decline. Securities there must be a change if we are to avoid bankruptcy, with free coinage every country would look up, and even if we lost our gold our prosperity would invite English capital, just as Japan's prosperity caused it to rush there. Never before have silver dealers in the country familiar to me displayed such disregard for truth and such stubborn obstinacy to the most obvious considerations as it does present on the silver question. This is due to the greed among some dealers in London, but English representatives in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, is determined to continue the appreciation of gold, and determined, therefore, that the facts shall not be known. The banks and the press are to be used to cover their influence. I think the money question at the present time the greatest question of civilization."

Dam Built in Colonial Times Settles Ownership of Valuable Land.

A very interesting suit has just been decided in the court of common pleas of Huntington county, says the Philadelphia Press.

About two years ago a Clearfield county surveyor, Thomas W. Moore, applied at the land office in Harrisburg for a warrant upon a tract of land in Carbon township, this county, claiming that the land was vacant. The warrant being issued, the Rock Hill Iron & Coal company discovered that the tract was one of the most valuable pieces of coal land, worth $40,000. They therefore sent a claim protesting against Moore's claim, and at the hearing Secretary Stewart decided that the controversy was too complicated for him or his office, and referred it to the courts of the county for settlement.

Upon the trial of the case, which occupied six days, Moore claimed that the land called for in the old warrant of 1786, on which the company based their title, was not located on the tract in dispute at all, but somewhere else in the township.

The line trees having all disappeared, the court would have had some trouble establishing that the land had not been that described. A warrant of 1786 called for a beaver dam in Great Thorough creek and the company had taken the precaution to send Prof. Wilcox, of Philadelphia, an expert on beavers and their habits, and two surveyors down to search for the old dam. The professor and his assistants dug down to the bottom of the stream at the point where legend fixed its location. After taking out a couple of feet of wash and gravel, which accumulated in the bed of the creek within the last century, they were rewarded by finding the old dam made by the beavers during their prior to the revolution stay. The weathered sticks of the dam were found bound side by side in regular order, and the marks of the beavers' teeth were plainly visible in the wood. When the sticks came in contact with the air they crumbled away to such an extent that it was with difficulty any were preserved and brought into court.

These relics from the beaver dam, with Prof. Wilcox's testimony, turned the tide in favor of the Rock Hill Iron company, and the jury had little trouble in agreeing upon a verdict in their favor.

A QUEER NOTION.

Can't Testify in Court to Anything Seen Through Glass.

"It is curious," says a Maine lawyer, "how prevalent the notion is that a person cannot testify as a witness in court to anything seen through glass. What would you do with all the folks who wear spectacles and see everything through the glass?" asked a Maine judge not long ago, referring to this notion. If the glass through which an act or event was seen was wavy so as to distort the appearance of objects, that fact might nowadays raise a doubt as to the reliability of the evidence, but could not exclude it. The prevailing notion, doubtless, had its rise in very ancient days, when all the glass in use for windows was very much warped and blurred.

Such glass may be seen, a single pane of it, in the office of a little hotel in Cambridge village, Mass., and kept as a relic. Where such material was in use it is little wonder that a witness was prevented from testifying as to what he saw through it. It was in common use in England at the time of the settlement of New England, and naturally in the early homes of this continent it was the best that could be had. But such a rule where modern glass is in common use would be nonsense."—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Building a Nest.

Nature tells a tale of a pair of rooks, evidently young birds, that strove to build a nest. The wind each time blew the nest down while the rooks, which fly far for nest materials instead of taking those close at hand, were away. At last, despairing of building a home by legitimate means, they fell upon completed nests of another pair. The owners were absent, tore it to pieces, and built a nest to stand that would stand in the wind. Then they made a superstructure in the clumsy and inexperienced way that young birds always do.

Father of Modern Opera.

The convention recessed at 5:15 and immediately took a further recess until 7 p. m. to allow the committees more time.

At 8 o'clock permanent organization was effected with J. Q. Ward, as chairman. The following delegates at large to the Indiana convention were chosen: S. B. Buckner, A. J. Carroll, W. C. P. Breckinridge, William F. Browder. The platform adopted is a severe arraignment of the Chicago platform, which is declared revolutionary and atheistic.

Several were discussed as Populists. It demands the maintenance of honest and stable currency on the gold standard; tariff for revenue only; low taxation and economical expenditures; civil service reform; and hearty endorsement of the national Democratic administration.

An amendment to the platform was adopted urging the nomination of Gen. S. B. Buckner, for vice president, by the Indianapolis convention. After speeches the convention adjourned.

Senator Lindsey sent a telegram expressing his regret that illness prevented his attendance.

The Courier-Journal in 1886.

In its daily issue of August 10, 1886 the Louisville Courier-Journal lays down the following proposition:

"1. That the demonetization of silver, which has prevailed for several years up to this writing, both in the United States and in Europe, has had the effect of advancing the value of gold about 40 per cent."

"2. That this has been accomplished by increasing the value of all other property to that extent."

"3. That about 40 per cent of the property and producing resources of the people have thus been transferred to a comparatively small class of men whose stock of trade is gold investment."

"4. That in the exact proportion as gold has risen the burden of debt and taxation has increased, and that in proportion as property and labor have declined the capacity of the people to pay their debts and taxes has declined."

"5. That the silver discount is creating a bonus of more than 30 per cent in favor of the farm productions of India and Asia, which to that extent cheapens the wheat, cotton and various other products of the United States."

"6. That these lamentable conditions have been produced by anti-silver legislation."

"7. That they can be undone and prosperity restored by pro-silver legislation."

"8. That any newspaper in New York or Boston or Chicago or Philadelphia or St. Louis or Cincinnati or New Orleans can successfully controvert either of these propositions; it will render the public valuable service by doing so at once."

"9. That the public can successfully controvert either of these propositions that are obviously contriving at a gigantic fraud and wrong which cannot co-exist with any degree of prosperity."

Bryan and Sewall will be formally notified on Sept. 8 of their nomination by the Silver party. The ceremony will take place in Lincoln, Nebraska.

The Bolsecrats must be in bad lines indeed when Bill Breckinridge is their chosen mouthpiece to "answer" Bryan.

Keep Up Your Scott's Emulsion in Summer-time

What are your resources for the summer? Have you an abundance of health stowed away for the long, hot, debilitating days, or does summer find you low in vitality, run down, losing flesh, and weak? Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil will give you the proper reserve force, because it builds up the system on a solid foundation. ELECTRICAL DISPLAY.

A Noisy Ball of Fire Comes Aboard a British Bark.

Capt. Dickson of the British bark Endora reports an unusual electrical display during a storm in the south Pacific. The Endora left Junin, Chile, on February 23, and while beating down the coast toward Cape Horn the storm was seen approaching the vessel's stern, snapping and sizzling like a wall of fire, but traveling only at a moderate speed, the wind being light at that time.

When the storm struck the vessel it blew with the force of 10 Americans, and for a time it looked as if the masts would be blown out. There was a great electrical display all over the rigging, and a great ball of fire floated near the mizzenmast and exploded with a report like that of a Krupp gun. The crew were dazed and nearly blinded, but fortunately no one was seriously hurt. The vessel labored heavily in the sea, and the wire rigging was ablaze with electricity. The storm soon cleared away, and the sea at once became as calm as before.—Philadelphia Record.

Republican Leader for Bryan.

Mayfield, Ky., Aug. 18.—Quite a bomb was exploded in the camp of the Republicans in this district yesterday when it became known that Hon. A. D. Cosby, of this city, had given a letter to Hon. Walter S. Mason, Chairman of the McKinley club, of this county, in which he stated that he would support Bryan and the National ticket. When he denied his name to be withdrawn from the Graves county McKinley club.

Mr. Cosby holds the enviable position of being the only Republican who was ever elected to an office in this Graves county, with a Democratic record of from 1860 to 1880. He served in either of the houses from 1875 to 1882, and was defeated for re-election by less than 500 votes. He was fifteen years on the Republican committee of this district. Mr. Cosby served four years as deputy revenue collector under Harrison's administration and died a Democrat in this district to the Republican national convention at Minneapolis in 1892.

Already 140 Republicans in Graves county have joined the Graves county Bryan and Sewall clubs. There are 2,200 registered Republican voters in the county and it is confidently expected that at least 350 of them will vote for Bryan and Sewall.

Lawn Fete at Lafayette.

Lafayette, Aug. 21.—The most fashionable social function of the season was given at the town house of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Williams, under the auspices of the leading young men of this place.

An Italian band furnished delightful music for the dancers and the magnificent lawn was filled with some of the noted Kentucky beauties and young girls whose chivalry is world renowned.

The supper was served under the oaks upon a floral board whose decoration was a marvel of beauty.

The lawn fete surpassed any entertainment in this section for many seasons.

The guests are deeply grateful to Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Williams and those who assisted in receiving.

The body of Michael Heisch, missing three weeks, was found in the woods back of Newport. He had hanged himself.

A SENTIMENTAL SCRAPBOOK.

How It Grew and How Its Fruition Was Truly Checked.

A newcomer among the periodicals, the Clipping Collector, devoted to information regarding the saving in book form of odd and useful material for future reference, describes a vast variety of strange scrapbooks...and it would seem that there is no end to the diversities of hobbies as expressed by the peculiarities of these collections. I freely acknowledge having tried a variety myself, but always with a practical end in view, save once, when saving a book was the only way to do it. That is the book that I value more highly than all the others, for it has given the greatest satisfaction. It is this book out of perhaps a dozen that I consider worth mentioning.

The book was dated about one year previous to my marriage and commenced its first page on the eve of my engagement. The first article that went toward forming the 200 and odd pages, which I bound later in an original way, mentioned the all-important fact to me that I was accepted; and had I lived up to all the sentiments expressed on that and the following sheet I would indeed have been a good and happy husband. It is well, therefore, to note at once when the important step has been taken, what one's hopes are and what one's ideas are at that stage. They should be written in as calm a manner as possible under the circumstances and will certainly prove interesting reading later on, especially should there be an offspring to discover the carefully concealed book when of an age to go through the same experience himself. Foolishly expressive ideas, words of esteem, import and adoration in thought will later on bring on ridicule and lower the book in the eyes of the writer as of everyone else. Therefore a plain, unvarnished sentiment, clearly expressed, should be the aim of the writer, though it may seem difficult to be placid at that moment. The highly sentimental compiler of engorgement his story might add to the page a flower or other memento of the event. It serves to illustrate the story told, and relieves the lines of carefully considered thought from the fault of being entirely void of sentiment except that which is so well pervaded in the book which cannot remain from any source save that of sentiment.

After the completion of the first chapter it was difficult to form divisions of the book. Ideas which I deemed worthy of being real by the one for whom I was preparing the book as a wedding present, to be opened on the wedding trip, were jotted down from time to time. Sorrow, joy, sickness, a quarrel and other happenings sufficed to furnish the thoughts which I wrote, in the belief that they would be cherished by the one reader as value the letters from the pen of Chesterfield. My love was soon to come to an end, but had become so strong, for the sake of being restored at another time, and other general information was planned to fall upon separate sheets. I believe, therefore, that knowing the letters were to be seen again, a profitable gain was made in schooling myself to write in a better manner than would otherwise have been the case; and, moreover, such letters are better received than the thoughtless effusion so frequent in lovers' letters, and love is not lessened by clear, sensible and honorable expression from either the man or woman.

"How happy could I be with either
Were the other dear charmer away."

Dr. O. A. CARLSTEDT'S GERMAN LIVER SYRUP.

Delay not a moment when Convive or Billows as serious results may follow next.

WHAT THE DOCTOR SAYS.

Dr. W. R. McDowell, the leading physician of Central City, Ky., says:

"Dr. Carlstedt's German Liver Powder is the ideal medicine and should be in every home."

CARLSTEDT'S MEDICAL CO.

GENTS:—Having tried your Carlstedt's German Liver Powder and am desirous to promote the most excellent remedy and well worthy the confidence of the public in general. Very Truly, H. B. GRAY.

WHO IS A BETTER JUDGE?

W. N. Brandon, of Cadiz, Ky., druggist, says "I sell more of Dr. Carlstedt's German Liver Powder than any medicine combined for Liver trouble. It's really good for all diseases, the human system is heir to, as it gets the stomach and bowels in order and starts the circulation off as if all the fresh air could. It is simply wonderful what this medicine does for suffering humanity."

LIVING SEELTON.

Mr. James Bennett, of Island, Ky., says: "If not for Dr. Carlstedt's German Liver Powder I would have been dead long ago." Dr. Carlstedt's German Liver Syrup is the only medicine for the first time in months, I sleep well and begin to improve. Now I am well and a truly happy woman." Mrs. T. O. SCHMIDT, Milwaukee, Wis.

CHRONIC HEADACHE, NERVOUSNESS. I was a sufferer from chronic nervous headaches and sleeplessness. Life became a burden. I tried doctors in vain; finally I took Dr. O. A. Carlstedt's German Liver Syrup and now sleep soundly every night from eight to ten hours. I am well and life is a pleasure." EWARD A. CRAWFORD, Amo, Ind.

HAD THE BLUES, AND GAVE UP.

Last February I felt very badly. I kept getting worse until I was almost dead. I could not love my own children. I was on the brink of suicide.

Finally I got a bottle of Dr. O. A. Carlstedt's German Liver Syrup.

This night for the first time in months, I sleep well and begin to improve. Now I am well and a truly happy woman." Mrs. T. O. SCHMIDT, Milwaukee, Wis.

Mrs. PEACH CAMPBELL, Englewood, Ill.

HEADACHES, INDIGESTION, ETC. 22 YEARS.

For 22 years I had headaches, indigestion, constipation and great debility with pains in my sides and shoulders. Tried doctors without avail. Dr. O. A. Carlstedt's German Liver Syrup cured me; it's worth its weight in gold." S. A. BAKER, Indianapolis, Ind.

A NEW GOLD FIELD.

Portion of the Mojave Desert Rich in the Precious Metal.

Gold in nuggets and gold in veins in such profusion and obtainable over so large an area as has never before been known in all the rich and remarkable finds of California and Australia is the substance of reports from that section of Kern county, Calif., which lies a little north of Death Valley. Gold here is found in 40 miles distant from that city. In this desert and hilly region placer and quartz diggings are now being worked, for the richness and extent exceed anything previously recorded in the mining history of the world. The development of this region is said to have only begun, yet it is known that the auriferous deposits extend for at least 25 miles, east and west, while its latitudinal boundaries have not yet been defined.

At the present time there is said to be a steady stream of prospectors coming from many cities and families. Mojave's hotel accommodations are entirely inadequate, notwithstanding that from three to four stages leave there daily, full of pilgrims for the latest gold-hunter's Mecca. From 50 to 100 people depart daily from there, and this human current has been maintained for some time. It has long been known that this region is a promising field for the prospector and for mining operations on a large scale, but the lack of water has heretofore been an effective deterrent. This view of the fact that "dry washing" is very successfully carried on in this region, it has been found practicable to haul the necessary supply of carts in barrels.—San Francisco Call.

THE YEAR AROUND.

Each of the Twelve Months Sees a Wheat Harvest.

There is no month in the year in which the song of the reaper is not heard in some land on the globe. In April, the wheat harvest of Australia, New Zealand, China and the Argentine begins; in February and March, upper Egypt and India; in April, lower Egypt, India, Syria, Cyprus, Persia, Asia Minor, Mexico and Cuba; in May, Tunis, Algeria, Central Asia, China, Japan and Morocco; in June, California, Oregon, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky, Kansas, Arkansas, Utah, Colorado, Missouri, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Spain, Portugal and South of France; in July, New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, southern Minnesota, Nebraska, upper Canada, Russia, Bulgaria, Serbia, Austria, Hungary, south of Russia, Germany, Switzerland and south of England; in August, central and northern Minnesota, the Dakotas, Manitoba, lower Canada, Columbia, Belgium, Netherlands, Great Britain, Denmark, Poland and central Russia; in September and October, Scotland, Sweden, Norway and north of Russia; in November, Peru and South Africa, and in December Burma and New South Wales.

CONDITIONALLY FORGIVEN.

Mr. Kuhn, in his "Musical Recollections" (Bentley), tells a story of Sir Michael Costa, who was a rigid disciplinarian of his orchestra, and who on one occasion was compelled to wait half an hour for the second oboe, and finally to begin without him. A quarter of an hour later still, when the orchestra was at work, the absentes appeared, breathing panting and sheepish.

His explanation was that "a domestic event had just occurred in his home, and that he did not like to leave until he was assured that everything had passed off satisfactorily." There was some laughing and chaffing. "Sir Michael did not join in the merriment. However, on hearing the explanation his features relaxed somewhat, and turning to the late oboe player, he said: 'That is a different thing. You may take your place; but, mind, don't let it occur again!'"—Household Words.

HIS ORIC MEMENTOS.

Theatrical mementos belonging to Mr. Henry Howe of Henry Irving's company, who died in Cincinnati last winter, were sold in London recently.

Among them was a large black and white envelope holding two gallons known as the "Haymarket jug," which had been used as a loving cup in Buckstone's time and had been drunk from by Louis Philippe and Cars Nicholas I and Alexander II.

These walking sticks, which had belonged to Edmund Kean, J. B. Buckingham, and Ellison respectively, were sold for $40, and a gold ring from Hercules given to Mr. Howe by Macready, when he played Mark Antony to the tragedian's Julius Caesar, brought $20.

The list of officers for the coming election is given in this issue. Of 112 officers about a dozen are negroes, an unusually small proportion. Some injustice has been done the Democrats by appointing bolters to represent the members of their party on the law requiring a division of the officers. This is notably the case in Hopkinsville No. 4, the largest Democratic precinct in the county, where only one Democratic officer is appointed—the sheriff. This, however, was probably not done with any intent to be unfair, and the law taken as a whole is a good one. In Edwarde Mill precinct no Republicans were eligible and all of the officers are Democrats.

Bids for Groceries.

Bids will be received on 10 bags of coffee, 1500 pounds bacon, 1 tierces lard, 3 barrels granulated sugar, 3 barrels sulphuric acid, 10 boxes Greenwich lye, 10 boxes Pettit soap, 3 barrels New Orleans molasses, to be furnished to Western Kentucky Asylum for the Insane for the month of September. Prices to be on goods laid down at Hopkinsville, Ky. All goods to be first class in quality. Goods will be received from any bidder who bids on each article. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Bacon to be best clear sides, lard to be kettle rendered.

To Cleanse The System

The following resolutions of sympathy and respect were adopted by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Christian church at its last meeting held Sunday night Aug. 29, 1896:

Whereas our Heavenly Father in his wisdom has taken from our Society one of its well beloved members, Sister Grace Garnett Donaldson, therefore do we:

Resolved—that while we feel great loss in her death, we realize that our loss is her gain; and that the lovely character which she has left is a good heritage, and will remain to invite us to renewed endeavor in the service of God.

Resolved—that these resolutions be spread on the records of this society and be given to the city papers for publication.
